

HOW TO TREAT AUTISTIC PEOPLE

Your Guide to Effective Communication

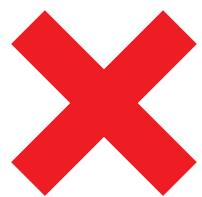

HOW TO TREAT AUTISTIC PEOPLE

by Rachel Morgan-Trimmer

1

Don't make eye contact

2

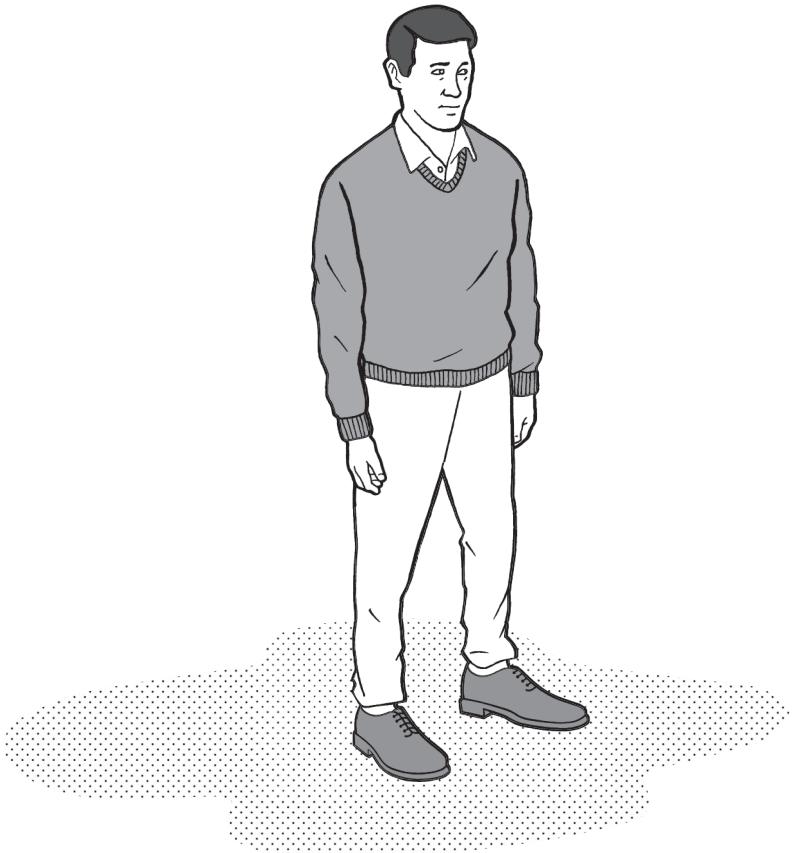

Do NOT touch them

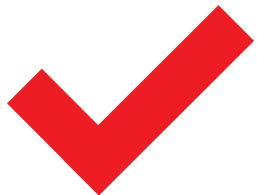

3

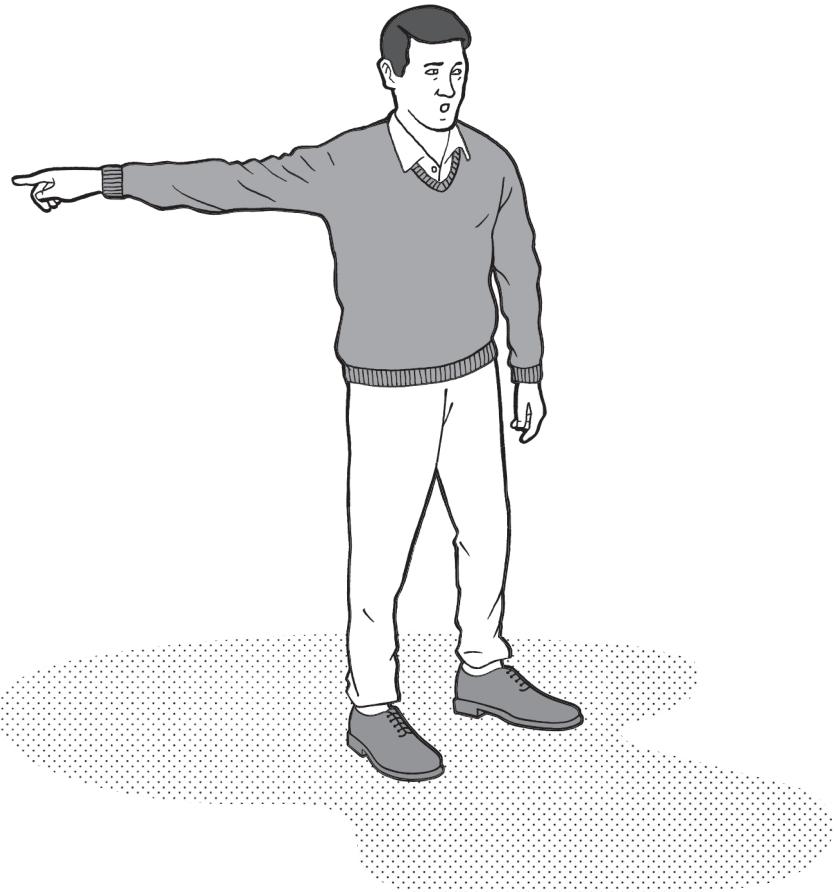

Don't offer food

4

If you see one, stand still until it moves away

5

Finally, tell a park ranger

Hang on...

That's not how you treat autistic people at all.
That's how you treat bears.

Here's a thought.

How about treating autistic people the same as everyone else?

With respect.

With understanding.

With kindness.

To find out how you can make your organisation more inclusive to all sorts of neurodiverse people, get in touch.

I have autism and ADHD, so I bring real-life experience to my training and consultancy.

By sharing this unique understanding with you, I help you create a more accessible and welcoming workplace, so you can hire, retain and make the most of extraordinary people.

Rachel Morgan-Trimmer
Neurodiversity Consultant and Trainer

rachel@sparkleclass.com 0161 4488846
www.sparkleclass.com

www.sparkleclass.com